

Jaisalmer Desert Camping

To groom the youngsters in the field of adventures, aware them about the rich Indian Heritage: both natural & cultural, Invincible presents one of its unique style of camping programme in Thar Desert. Here, the young India will explore the barren land's beauty and landscapes, and will experience the typical Rajasthani culture through interactions and exploration.

During the winter season, the desert area remains comparatively cooler than the summer and it creates an appropriate situation to feel and enjoy the real Thar beauty. The Thar Desert also nicknamed as the Great Indian Desert, is the world's 17th largest desert. It is divided among the countries India and Pakistan, with the majority part being in India. It is one of the most populated desert areas amongst the globe.

Places to Visit...

Jaisalmer

Jaisalmer is also known as "The Golden City" of India and is one of the largest city of Rajasthan and it also comprises of the Pakistan border on one of its sides. The town is the world heritage site and it mainly built of the yellowish sandstone.

The city contains various heritage sites like fort, lake, temples etc. Overall, its desert, fauna and varied culture makes it an attraction for the world. On the same side the city is famous for its food, culture and Rajasthani Accent.

Besides this, the fort was built by Bhati Rajput ruler Jaisal, in 1156 at Meru Hills and named as Trikoot Garh has been site for many wars. The site is very suitable for camel rides. There are many diversities among flora and fauna.

Kuldhara

Amongst the beauty of this beautiful city, there is also a horror residing among its boundaries. This is a village which was destroyed 4 centuries ago and it is believed amongst the locals that the site goes live during full moon which makes it more interesting place to visit.

Kanoi Camp

Kanoi is a village situated around 30 km from the Jaisalmer city, and around 7 km from the Sam Sand Dunes. The campsite is to be set up there. Due to its eographical conditions, the countryside charm and scenic beauty are enjoyable at Kanoi.

Sam Sand Dunes

The perfect example of the desert eco-system situated alongside the town of Jaisalmer covering large area. The land consists of craggy rock sand compact Salt Lake bottoms, fixed dunes, etc. There is abundance of bird life in the nearby region and it also forms site for the migratory birds. Site also contains fossils of plants and animals of 180 million years old. Also, depictions of dinosaurs are found.

Sudasari

It is a National Desert Park which is located around 14 km from the Sam Sand Dunes. Black-buck is the common antelope of this region. Alongside with the desert fox, wolf and desert cat. Birds such as sand grouse, partridges, bee-eaters, larks, and shrikes are common sights. During winters many foreign species add to the vivid beauty and charm of the park.

Barana

Barana village is located in the Bhilwara district of Rajasthan, India. The camp is settled here nearby the village and the joy of camel ride to Khoori desert can be enjoyed from here, on the other hand it also provides the feel of the typical village life of the locals residing there. The camp fire on the evening is like the icing on the cake.
